

Grant program to include rural roads that serve to transport agriculture products from farms or ranches to the marketplace.

American agricultural communities play a pivotal role in the economy within my district and across America. These farms and ranches provide the communities they serve with fresh products daily, ensuring consumers have an adequate and healthy food supply. Unfortunately, many of the roads are deteriorating.

Over 70 percent of our nation's total road mileage is in rural areas, yet, between 2009–2015, these roads have only seen about 37 percent of federal highway fund. As Congress debates how to move forward with a bold plan to address infrastructure, we need to ensure road-repair projects like these do not fall by the wayside as we seek to address other larger infrastructure projects. Just because a road is in a rural area does not mean the road is small or otherwise unimportant. To the contrary, I am aware of several rural road projects in my district and the surrounding region that are major connectors that would benefit from this type of funding opportunity.

Madam Speaker, my bill expands the current surface block grant program to include these roads—roads that serve as a lifeline to the people that depend on them. We must invest in our rural infrastructure now, before it is in complete disrepair. This legislation was included in H.R. 2, the Moving Forward Act, when it passed in the House of Representatives in the 116th Congress, and I look forward to working with my colleagues to ensure it passes again. I urge my colleagues to support this measure.

PERSONAL EXPLANATION

HON. KEVIN BRADY

OF TEXAS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Mr. BRADY. Madam Speaker, I have been diagnosed with covid-19. Had I been present, I would have voted NAY on Roll Call No. 10 and NAY on Roll Call No. 11.

IN HONOR OF NORMAN YEE

HON. JACKIE SPEIER

OF CALIFORNIA

Monday, January 11, 2021

Ms. SPEIER. Madam Speaker, I rise today to recognize the President of the San Francisco of Supervisors Norman Yee who is departing the Board of Supervisors after eight years, and after serving a prior eight years as a commissioner on the San Francisco Board of Education.

Norman is a native San Franciscan and was raised in Chinatown. From an early age, he worked at a Noe Valley grocery store owned by his parents. He graduated from Galileo Academy of Science and Technology, then attended City College, and finally matriculated to the University of California at Berkeley, graduating with a BS in Civil Engineering. He also holds a MA in Education from San Francisco State University.

Norman Yee is an activist and leader. He taught ESL and citizenship classes at City College from 1984 to 1994, and for 18 years was the executive director for Wu Yee Children's Service, an advocacy group supporting child services in San Francisco. He was elected as a commissioner of the school district in 2004 and served as its president during his second term.

In 2012, he was elected to serve on the San Francisco Board of Supervisors. In this role, he sponsored or cosponsored 780 pieces of legislation, many of citywide significance that also went to the ballot. For example, in 2016 he cosponsored Proposition W which made City College free for all city residents. In 2018, he cosponsored Proposition C to fund universal childcare. Both measures passed because San Franciscans deeply appreciate education. For his district, he secured more funding for parks, negotiated with neighbors to allow local businesses to expand, opposed short-term illegal rentals by AirBnB, pushed for lower speed limits on dangerous streets, and led efforts to boost funding for senior programs.

He spearheaded creation of the city's Early Head Start program, the Asian Parent Education Network, the San Francisco Child Care Providers Association, and the Chinatown Beacon Center. He remains a board member of the San Francisco Child Care Providers Association.

Last year, Norman Yee was elected president of the San Francisco Board of Supervisors. He is fair in setting agendas and works collaboratively with colleagues. He is also a leader. An example is the new housing being developed in his district at the Balboa reservoir.

Rents in San Francisco have declined during the pandemic, but the long-term trend is sharply upward. The reservoir site is adjacent to the main campus of City College, a treasure within my district that I proudly support. Proposals for housing stretch back to the 1960's. A year before he was tragically taken from us, I personally spoke to Mayor Ed Lee about placing housing at this site. However, it's hard to build when the public is divided.

Supervisor Yee rolled up his sleeves to create a proposal acceptable to most and of enduring service to low income residents of San Francisco. Over time, many thousands will be served. 1,100 units of housing will be built, 50 percent affordable, and 150 units will be dedicated to City College faculty and staff.

As our nation struggles to come to grips with systemic racism and abuses by some on police forces, Supervisor Yee recently placed onto the ballot a measure to change the way in which San Francisco staffs its police force. An existing city charter provision required San Francisco to have 1,971 full-time duty officers on the force. In November, San Francisco voters abolished this provision. This will allow the board, the police and community to talk about how the department will be staffed. 71 percent of the city's voters agreed with Norman Yee that this change is needed to move the community forward.

Supervisor Yee is a gentleman and a thoughtful public servant. I've known some elected officials who light up a room by destructively setting off verbal fireworks in a tightly crowded auditorium. Norman simply tells it like it is. This reassures his constituents that he's not present at the meeting for adulation from the crowd but for the hard work that produces progress.

Madam Speaker, as Supervisor Yee exits public service, he will be remembered as the man everyone could have over for dinner because he's so earnest and so interesting. Now that he's leaving, his wife Cathy and their two children Karissa and Chandra may see him for a few more dinners. We thank them for their service, as well, because they also sacrificed for the community's best interests during his time in elective office. We will see Norman on the streets of Westwood, his neighborhood, and perhaps in city hall from time to time. We will also remember him as the man who understood every corner of his beloved San Francisco because he earned the friendship of people throughout this great city.

HON. ADAM SMITH

Mr. SMITH of Washington. Madam Speaker, I rise to congratulate Phil Lindquist on his retirement from Director of Governmental Affairs at the International Union of Painters and Allied Traders (IUPAT), District Council 5.

Me and my staff had the pleasure of working with Phil for several years. Rarely have I met someone with the expertise, knowledge, and passion Phil possesses. He was an extremely effective advocate for workers' rights and genuinely cared about the work he was doing. He recognized the need to have a strong, organized union and was an important leader in IUPAT, District Council 5.

For nearly two decades Phil was an incredible Director of Governmental Affairs to the union. The impact union leaders have are often overlooked, but they are incredibly important. I know his work-ethic, drive, and dedication will be missed by all and he has left an impressive legacy that will be hard for his successor to fill.

Madam Speaker, I thank Phil Lindquist for spending his career advancing the rights of workers and congratulate him on a well-deserved retirement.

HONORING DR. JOE McDONALD

HON. GREG STANTON

OF ARIZONA

Monday, January 11, 2021

Mr. STANTON. Madam Speaker, I rise to honor the life and legacy of Dr. Joe McDonald, who passed away on November 16, 2019. Joe was a man of deep faith, an exceptional sportsman on and off the field, and an inspiration to the thousands of students who had the great privilege to learn from him. A beloved member of our community, Joe's life was marked by steadfast commitment to education and service to others.

Joe grew up in Bakersfield, California and was the fourth of seven children. His childhood was filled with family and faith; Joe played sports and made harmless trouble with his brothers, gained a strong work ethic from his parents, and worshiped proudly, singing alongside his family in their church's choir.

After two years at Bakersfield Community College, Joe caught the eye of Arizona State University Football Head Coach Frank Kush who recruited him to play tight end for the team. Off the field, he earned his degree and met the love of his life, Sharon, before beginning his career as an educator. A few years into his teaching career, Coach Kush reached out again, this time to ask Joe to be an assistant coach for Sun Devil football—he said yes. Throughout Joe's return to ASU, he coached for six years, served as the associate athletic director and earned both his master's and doctoral degrees. Joe brought both success and diversity to ASU football, leading the Sun Devils to the 1970 Peach Bowl and the 1971–1973 Fiesta Bowls as one of the first Black coaches at a Division One University.

Following his time at ASU, Joe returned to the classroom as a teacher and was later named the first principal of Desert Vista High School. During his principalship, the school was recognized multiple times for its academic achievements and excellence in athletics and fine arts. Joe always saw the good in everyone. He constantly advocated for the best interests of his students, teachers, and administrators because he knew they were the foundation which made Desert Vista a welcoming and inclusive learning environment for all. In recognition of his more than a decade of service to Desert Vista, the school's auditorium was named after him upon his retirement.

Joe was also active and engaged in our community; he was a member of the First Institutional Baptist Church congregation for 52 years, where he regularly taught Sunday School. He served on the Sun Angel Foundation Executive Board and the Memorial Hospital Board. For all of his work in the community, Joe was recognized with the Arizona African American Achievement Award, the NAACP Leadership Award, the Tribune Leadership Award, and the Distinguished Administrator's Award.

Joe will be dearly missed by his friends, family, colleagues and all whom he empowered during his lifetime of service as an educator and school administrator. We join his family in grief and gratitude, thankful we bore witness to his incredible legacy which will be felt for generations to come.

I thank Joe, and wish him Godspeed.
